

JFI's Social Wealth Seminar is an ongoing virtual, semi-monthly forum exploring strategies to manage public assets and resources in service of a more just society, in the United States and across the world.

Sessions will be held on alternating Tuesdays at 6pm ET via Zoom. Each session will last for one hour; presenters will speak for 20-25 minutes, with the remaining time dedicated to questions and discussion. An article-length reading and 3-5 item bibliography will be circulated one week in advance over a seminar-specific email list. The seminar will be open to invited guests and to the general public by RSVP to sws-reservations@jainfamilyinstitute.org.

Seminar Schedule, July-August 2020

Tuesday, July 7: Naomi Zewde (Assistant Professor, Graduate School of Public Health & Health Policy, City University of New York), "Inequalities in Wealth and Health: Things to Consider when Building a Generation"

Tuesday, July 21: Yakov Feygin (Associate Director, Future of Capitalism Program, Berggruen Institute), "Sovereign Wealth Funds and Public Wealth Building Institutions in the Context of the Global Dollar System"

Tuesday, August 4: Amanda Kass (Associate Director, Government Finance Research Center, University of Illinois at Chicago), "What Might Happen To Public Pensions In The Wake Of Covid-19?"

Tuesday, August 18: Carla Santos Skandier (Co-Manager, Climate & Energy Program, The Next System Project), "'Non-Extractive Finance Mechanisms for a Just Recovery and Transition'"

If you are interested in presenting at a subsequent meeting of the Social Wealth Seminar, please contact paul.katz@jainfamilyinstitute.org.